Dear Ms Stewart,

On Monday evening, Aram Basmadjian, gave a concert for the Lancaster Community Concert Association. This young organist had the audience in the palm of his hand. In addition to his talent as an organist, his humor was very appealing. He devoted part of the concert to giving a demonstration of the families of the organ. To non-organists, this was most informative. Due to the snow storm a few days before, we did not have the full house in attendance that we usually do, but those that were there were most enthusiastic in their appreciation of his outstanding program.

Very sincerely,

Richard L. Kline, President
